

Substance of Interview

Discussed applicant's proposed amendment to the claims including reciting a separate rolling access code that changes with each combined signal transmission and verifying authorization without transmitting a signal to the transmitter. The examiner agrees that this (without transmitting) appears to overcome the Hsu patent, but the examiner will consider possible rejections based on Gullman in combination with Waraksa, Flick or other references. Also suggested claiming changing rolling code only with each transmission to overcome time varying code that changes based on a clock.
